Eyoeil Fentie

Evergreen High School

Seattle Tacoma International Airport (STIA)

Scholarship

$20,000

Eyoeil is headed to the University of Washington where he plans to major in physiology and minor in public health. Growing up, Eyoeil spent a lot of time at his mother's clinic in Ethiopia. He often interacted with doctors, nurses and patients. He loved watching the way that a doctor could make a patient feel better by prescribing medication, giving advice, or even listening. This chose him to look at the medical field.

He has a strong commitment to community service, leadership, and involvement in extra-curricular activities, and especially an utmost serious attitude towards education. He is always striving to accomplish his goals and is eager to give back to his community.

Attaining the STIA Scholarship will not only help him with his financial expenses but it will help him to immerse in the college experience without having to worry about financial struggles that his parents would be going through to try and fund his college education.
