Ma. Viktoria Cambas

Tyee High School

CM Garrity Scholarship

$26,000

Viktoria is headed to Princeton University in the fall to study public policy. "I intend to be a public health major or any related major to public health and proceed with a graduate degree. My career objective starts with scientific research in improving healthcare in countries lacking in health facilities. Furthermore, I want to join in global medical missions in order to witness the many public issues of the world. I want to establish a non-profit that will engage with minority communities and youth around the world beginning with the Philippines. From promoting global and health education and lecturing on the idea of "giving back" to different communities, I hope to set a milestone in creating a positive and accepting society in the Philippines."

Aside from her interests in science and policy, she is someone who turns to the arts during her free time. She makes playlists and shares it with long-distance friends and also writes them short letters to let them know how much they are missed. Through the means of music and literature, she stays connected with the people she cares for.

Viktoria feels so supported by receiving this scholarship. She feels belssed that she is one step closer to the path of higher reaches and global connections which she can make use of with her passion for volunteerism.
